ting our shonored and beloved friend, Dr. Hoge, on the street a few days ago, we discovered that he was just returned from the meeting of the International Sunday-School Lesson Committee, in New York, and we presumed upon a friendship of long standing to ject him to the ordeal of an interview. With his accustomed cordinity and grace, he yielded, and our readers may now profit by his compliance." Following this is nearly two column of exceedingly interesting matter which it is very easy to see was extracted from Dr. Hoge by that master of interviewing, Rev. Dr. Dickinson, and from which is quoted the following:

ITS PRECISE NATURE. "What precisely is the work of your committee?" asked the interviewer. "Our chief work," said Dr. Hoge, "is in the arrangement of an outline of Scripture lessons for a series of years, which shall, as far as possible, embrace a general study of the whole Bible, alternating between the Old and New Testaments, and then to select the lesson for each Sunday of one year, with the golden text and the verses to be memorized. This selection is then sent to a corresponding and the verses to be memorized. This selection is then sent to a corresponding committee in London, and is carefully revised by it and returned to the American committee, with suggested changes and amendments. After these are considered by the American committee-gladly availing itself of whatever is good in these advices—the whole work, thus patiently revised, is sent to the press.

"It may interest you to know that our system is steadily growing in favor, not-withstanding the fact that other systems have been proposed as substitutes and that an ever-increasing number of children throughout Christendom, and in pagan lands as well, are studying the lessons arranged by us."

Tell us something about the members of your committee.

Tell us something about the members of your committee.

"Yes, I can tell you something about the composition of our committee that is worthy of mention. Baptists, Methodists, Lutherans, Congregationalists, United Brethren, Disciples, Episcopalians, Presbyterians, and the Reformed Church are all represented in our committee.

byterians, and the Reformed Church are all represented in our committee.
"In our conferences there is sometimes earnest debate, each member expresses his own opinions freely; but in no meeting which I have attended has there been the slightest manifestation of unfraternal feeling, nor has there been a word spoken which could wound the sensibilities of a brother or mar the delightful Christian harmony which characterizes our discussions. DR. WARREN RANDOLPH.

"Our committee owes a great debt o gratitude to Dr. Warren Randolph, the secretary, who has given his time and tell and heipful services for twenty-one years, with no other remuneration than the consciousness of working in a noble cause, with the highest appreciation on the part of the entire body associated with him.

"Bishop John H. Vincent was one of the first to make popular the Uniform-Lesson course by introducing it throughout the schools of the Methodist Church, and since then he has been indefatigable in his since then he has been indefatigable in his efforts to make the system international. Another of the earnest workers from the beginning has been Mr. B. F. Jacobs, of Chicago, whose enthusiasm in Sundayschool work seems to know no abatement, and whose success in making the Uniform-Lesson plan intercontinental has become a matter of history. DR. BROADUS.

"In one department of service, Dr. John A. Broadus has been worth, I might say, all the rest of us put together. He comes to our meetings with an outline of Scripture lessons already mapped out, with the most comprehensive and at the same time with the most discriminating judgment, He thus greatly facilitates the work of the committee, and in all matters of detail, such is the accuracy of his rious Complaint-County Court. The identity of the parents of the threerecks'-old infant who was left at the county Saturday still remains shrouded in mys-tery. Constable Samuels is diligently working on the case, but he has thus far made no progress and has about concluded to give up the hunt. The momentous question with him new is what to do with tion of the question in the shape of a lady who called on him at the county court-house yesterday. She stated to him that she had lost her only child, an infant, and if the authorities would permit her to do so, she would take this waif and care for it as her own. She stipulates, however, that the child shall be so deeded to her that not even its parents, should they ever desire to so do, could take it from her. This proviso has resolved itself into a question of right or authority, and the Constable is vainly poring over law-hooks trying to find some enactment of the Legislature that will invest him with the proper authority to enter into such an agreement as the motherly lady desires. In the mean time the infant still remains at Martha Manning's house.

'Squire Vincent had reported to him yesterday a case which it may transpire will prove as sensational as any that has occupied the attention of the county authorities for some time.

A lady residing just below the city entered his office and asked for a warrant for the arrest of a young man—a near neighbor of hers—on the charge of having wronged her daughter. She informed the Magistrate that her daughter was in a delicate condition, and that some days ago her betrayer carried her to a house on Broad street near Brook avenue, where a criminal operation was performed on her, and she is now in a very precarious condition, requiring the attention of two physicians. Valentine and his wife were indicted by the grand jury Wednesday for attempting to defraud several insurance companies by setting fire to their house on Nineteenth street, extended. The case is an interesting one, and will probably attract considerable attention. It will be remembered that the house was burned about 2 o'clock on the morning of the lith of August last, and for a time was burned about 2 o'clock on the morning of the 15th of August last, and for a time the flames threatened to destroy adjoining residences. The building was insured in two companies, and they, suspecting foul play, employed Mr. R. A. Woodall, of the National Detective Agency, to investigate the cause of the fire. He submitted his evidence to the grand jury, and they at once returned an indictment. Judge Wickham thereupon issued capiases for 'the arrest of the husband and wife, and they were taken into custedy. About 7 o'clock a writ of habeas corpus was sued out before Judge Wellford, and the couple were admitted to bail.

WEDS A YOUNG PHYSICIAN.

Pretty Marriage of Miss Baker to Dr. Siegel Yesterday Afternoon.

The wedding of Dr. Charles Lawrence Siegel and Miss Grace Belvin Baker was solemnized at St. John's church at C o'clock last evening. The marriage was the prettiest that has occurred in the East End this season. The historic edifice was beautifully and artistically decorated in palms and ferns and chrysanthemums, the work of Hammond, and the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. R. A. Goodwin, was simple but impres-

ive. The bride, a tall and stately blonde was charmingly attired in an imported dress of green, trimmed elaborately with dress of green, trimmed elaborately with sable and real lace, with hat and gloves to match, and carried bridal roses.

The maids of honor, Misses Mattle Virginia Baker (sister of the bride) and Hylah Curtis, were gowned in white organdie, high neck, over white satin. Mr. Robert L. Sears, of Mathews, and Dr. Wythe Davis, of this city, were the groom's best men, while the ushers were Messrs. Elijah Baker, Louis Siegel, Thomas Boudar, W. Schmidt, Ed. Cox, Lindsay Allen, Charles Meagher, and W. Atwell Danna. The procession up the aisle of the church was headed by the ushers in twos. These were followed by the bridesmaids,

Dr. Dickinson was not satisfied, however, with making Dr. Hoge tell all about the work of the committee, but gathered from him an interesting account of his visit to Princeton. Dr. Dickinson then concludes the article as follows:

The winter schelule on the Richmond. Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad will take effect Sunday. November 18th. There are few changes, as the present one is most excellent and covers all requirements of our travelling community. The train now leaving at 7:36 P. M. will then depart at 7:30 P. Particular attention is called to the midnight train from the north, which will Particular attention is called to the midnight train from the north, which will reach Richmond ten minutes later. The connection of this train is the famous Congressional Limited between New York and Washington, and leaves the metropolis daily at 3:30 P. M., the time from New York to Richmond being only mine hours. The north-bound connection of the Congressional leaves Richmond at noon daily except Sunday, and is due in New York at 9:08 P. M., correspondingly quick time. It is thus to be noticed with pride that Richmond is drawn still nearer by bands of steel to the principal commercial cities of the North and East.

The following cases came up in the Police Court yeaterday:

J. W. Hancock, a merchant on west Broad street, was-fined $2.50 and costs for assaulting W. T. Taylor.

The other cases were unimportant.

For the Populist senatorship Marion Butler, chairman of the National Farmers' Alliance, has the call, but W. A. Guthrie, a Populist lawyer, of Durham, is also out for the honor. On the Republican side the candidates are more numerous, and it is mere conjecture to name the winner, A. E. THE

FOURQUREAN-PRICE TO-DAY

REMNANT-DAY The natural consequence of an extremely busy season is a great collection of REMNAN'IS. To day every department in the house is going to make a special effort to close out all odd lots—and small quantities and short lengths, and everything that can be called a remnant. This cannot be done without making very low prices. Therefore, no matter how desirable the article, or how low its former price, it is marked at the least price ever given a remnant. So at your command all over the house are bargains in short lengths. In Dress Goods will be found hundreds of useful lengths of the newest fall fabrics. If you want a suit, a skirt, a waist, by a little calculation and management you can secure material enough for your wants, in some instances for actually one quarter the former price. So with the other departments—they offer many useful things at prices that bear but little relation to real value.

Tom Brown's SCHOOL

school days. You can find places now where school boys turn the cow loose in where school boys turn the cow loose in the belfry. You can find to-day spots on the globe where boys do things that would cause "a horse to laugh." Not long ago a gang of boys "hatched" a new piece of devility. They took a whole lot of chickens and put one under the lid of every dosk in school, so that when the scholars began to raise their desks in the morning an "eggs"-truordinary scene took place. It is said that the teacher "laid" for the boys, but couldn't catch 'em. Hewas a queer old "rooster" anyway. He got mad last winter when the boys turned the school bell upside down and poured water in it and let it freeze up solid. They thought it was "an ice" trick, but he made it warm for them. They wear out clothes now at school just as fast as of old. They go through school. But there is a bright side to it now, since the MEYFERS have been keeping BOYS' CLOTHING. Your youngster can be fitted with Suits from $1.25 to $5 that some competitors would ask you double the amount for the same goods. You can buy a pretty good Suit for a 14-year-old boy or his younger brother for $1.25 to $2.5; and you can get this at the boys or his younger brother for $1.25 to $2.5; and you can get stitls at MEYER'S. Sixth and Broad. You can get the best of all BOYS' SUITS at MEYER'S. Some boys will wear out more than one pair of pants to one coat. At MEYER'S.
